As the New Year comes upon us, Elmira is approaching an exciting milestone. The city of Elmira will celebrate its 150th anniversary in 2014 with events throughout the year. During this sesquicentennial year, both the City's rich heritage and bright future will be honored. The success of the Sesquicentennial Celebration depends on the support of our community, including city officials, corporations, businesses and organizations that already help to sustain and to enrich Elmira on a daily basis. Elmira's Sesquicentennial Celebration not only provides our community with the opportunity to celebrate our past, but also presents a unique opportunity to bring our community together with even more pride, as we work together to build an even better future. So, we thank you for celebrating with us. We look forward to seeing you throughout the year of 2014
